Numb. 138.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, SEPTEMBER 11, to Saturday, SEPTEMBER 18, 1736.

LONDON, June 15.

DOn Carlos has reſolved, for the Encouragement of Foreign Commerce with his Kingdoms, to repair the antient Port of Bindiſi, ſituate on the Gulph of Venice, and to declare it a Free Port. This Place has an excellent Harbour, capable of containing a great Number of Ships with Safety, was anciently a large and populous City, and is noted for the Death of Virgil.

Some private Letters from Paris remark, that they are greatly alarmed there by a Man who pretends to have found the Longitude; and has gone ſo far as to ſend to all the Courts of Europe, to lay in his Claim to the Reward offer'd reſpectively for ſuch Diſcovery.

We learn from Hanover, that his Britannick Majeſty applies himſelf with indefatigable Pains to the great Affairs of Europe; and indeed the future Tranquility of Europe very much depends upon the great and good Deſign his Majeſty appears to be engaged in at this Time. It is now ſaid, there will be no Camp near that City, but his Majeſty will review his Troops in the Places where they are quartered, which however is not certain. The Court is exceeding brilliant and numerous. Baron Hartoff, Secretary of State, arrived there the 18th Inſtant, and Mr. Horace Walpole was every Moment expected. His Majeſty enjoys a perfect State of Health.

They write from Vienna, that the Emperor has diſpatched Orders to his Miniſter at Conſtantinople, to repreſent to the Grand Signor the Danger to which his Dominions may be expoſed by the preſent War with Ruſſia; that her Czarian Majeſty's Demands are ſo juſt, they cannot be refuſed with any colour of Reaſon; and that in caſe his ſublime Highneſs finds himſelf inclinable to grant what that Princeſs inſiſts on, his Imperial Majeſty will be ready to throw in his good Offices, and ſtop the Progreſs of the Ruſſian Arms. M. Tahlman had Orders, at the ſame time, to leave Conſtantinople in caſe the Porte did not conſent immediately to the Propoſal.

The Ruſſian, Poliſh, and French Miniſters at the Imperial Court, have exchanged the Acts ſtipulated by the 4th Article of the Convention, relating to the Ceremonies of King Staniſlaus's being acknowledged King of Poland, with all the Titles and Honours of a crown'd Head, and the Form of his Abdication.

This Poſt brings farther Account of King Theodore of Corſica, that he had wrote to the Emperor's Miniſters of State, to notify his Arrival in that Iſland, to acquaint them with the Motives which induced him to undertake ſuch an Expedition, and his great Succeſs hitherto, and to beg moſt humbly of the Emperor nor to oppoſe his Enterprize.

By Capt. Ayres who arrived here on Wedneſday laſt, we have the following freſh Advices.

LONDON, July 6.

The Reports ſpread at Genoa, that the Garriſon of Baſtia made a Sally upon the Rebels, raiſed the Siege, and forced King Theodore to betake himſelf to the Mountains are by no means confirmed by the laſt Letters from Italy. Theſe mention on the other hand, that Baſtia being in Diſtreſs for Wood and freſh Water, muſt inevitably open her Gates to the Rebels in a little time; that the Republick of Genoa had indeed procured ſome Barks to take in a Lading of Wood at Marennes, but it was believed they would arrive to late at Baſtia: That King Theodore had poſſeſs'd himſelf of a Poſt which open'd a free Paſſage into the Gulph of St. Fiorenzo; that the Terror his Cruelties had ſpread amongſt the People was univerſal; that he exacted Contributions from every Part of the Iſland, and had amaſs'd a vaſt Quantity of Corn from confiſcated Eſtates; that he continued to live with all the Splendor of a crown'd Head; had his Head Quarters at Patrimonio; was guarded by a Party of 300 Horſe, 150 of whom ſtood Centry at a time with drawn Sabres; that he kept three publick Tables; and that his Service of Plate might vie with that of moſt Princes. The Genoeſe have environed the Iſland with armed Veſſels in order to prevent Succours arriving, in hopes his Ammunition will in Time be ſpent and his Money exhauſted, but this Expence to the Genoeſe is in the mean while ſo very conſiderable, and the Succeſs ſo doubtful, that 'tis apprehended the Republick will involve her ſelf in ſome Difficulties not eaſy to be got over.

Some Letters from Paris ſay, that the Scheme of the Empreſs of Ruſſia is to puſh the Turks out of Europe, with the Help of the Emperor of Germany, and to eſtabliſh her Reſidence at Conſtantinople.

Letters from Rome make mention of a remarkable Legacy left his Imperial Majeſty, a poor Husbandman without the Gate Pia at his Death, which happened the 23d Inſtant, appointed the Emperor his univerſal Heir; his Eſtate conſiſts of a ſmall Vineyard, together with a little Houſe, four Crowns in ready Money, a few Houſhold Goods, and a Sack of Corn. Count Harrach immediately ſent an Inventory of the ſame to his Imperial Majeſty.

Paris, July 15.

They write from Corſica of the 22d paſt, that Affairs there ſtill continued in the ſame Situation, and that the Report of Baſtia being beſieged in Form, and of the Rebels having poſſeſſed themſelves of Algajola, is without Foundation. On the contrary, it appears, that Part of the Garriſon of the latter had ſallied out, and took one Piece of Cannon, ſix Muskets, and other Trifles, which they carried away in a triumphant Manner, and cauſed the Te Deum to be ſung for this inconſiderable Advantage. It is to be preſumed that the Rebels, for the preſent, hold themſelves upon the Defenſive, and content themſelves to keep all the Places in the Hands of the Genoeſe cloſely blocked up till they can get in the Harveſt. The Lord Theodore has advanced lately as far as Catingano, which is within 2 Leagues of Calvi, and being guarded only by the Peaſants, 'tis not queſtioned but it fell into the Hands of the new Sovereign, who every Day increaſes in Richneſs and heap'd-up Proviſions.

Genoa

Some of his Copper Coin is handed about this City, on one Side of which is ſtamped Theodorus Rex, with a Crown at the Top and the Year 1736; on the other Side are Letters ſhewing the Value thereof, with theſe Words round the Edges, Pro Bono Publico.

LONDON, June 22.

Her Majeſty, Guardian of the Realm, has been pleaſed to iſſue her Royal Proclamation, prohibiting his Majeſty's Subjects to give or furniſh Aſſiſtance to any of the Inhabitants of Corſica, now in Rebellion againſt the Republick of Genoa.

The Mail from France which arrived on Sunday, brought Advice from Corſica, that the Rebels had intirely blocked up all the Places where the Republick has any Troops, to prevent their making any Sally to diſturb the getting in of the Harveſt: That a Catalan Bark had brought King Theodore a new Supply of Cannon and Ammunition of all Sorts; but that a Tartan bound to Corſica, was obliged by Streſs of Weather, to put into a Port belonging to the Dominion of the Republick; and that a Native of the Iſland was found on board, diſguiſed in the Habit of a Capuchin Fryar, having under his Care an Ingot of Gold weighing 30 lb. and Thirty-two Letters, which 'tis believed will unravel the whole Miſtery of King Theodore's Expedition.

According to our Advices from Hamburg, the Court of Ruſſia had received an Expreſs from Count Munich's Army with the important News of the Surrender of Aſoph. The Baſhaw, who commanded in the Town, having Proviſions only for a few Days, and ſeeing every thing ready for a general Aſſault, hung out a large Flag as a Signal to capitulate: Upon which Hoſtages having been exchanged on both Sides, the Articles of the Capitulation were ſoon agreed upon, the Principal of which were, that they ſhould march out immediately without Arms or Artillery: That they ſhould be eſcorted by Water to a certain Place upon the Black Sea: That the Inhabitants of Aſoph and St. Peter's Fort ſhould have a Month's Time to retire whither they pleaſed. What adds to the Glory of this Conqueſt is, that the Town ſurrendered in the Sight of a numerous Army of Turks and Tartars, without their daring to make the leaſt Motion to relieve it.

The Letters from Peterſburg by this Poſt ſeem to call in Doubt what the former had mentioned of the Surrender of Aſoph, and only ſay, that the Garriſon, ſeeing no hopes of Relief, fought like People in Deſpair, and that the very Women had taken up Arms. The famous Count Bonneval is ſaid to Command in the Place.

July 10. The Perſian Ambaſſador has given the Czarina freſh Aſſurances that Houli Kan would never conclude a Peace with the Ottoman Port without her Conſent and Concurrence.

The Governors of the Iſlands of Jamaica and Barbadoes, and thoſe for New-York and South-Carolina, are expected to be named by his Majeſty at Hanover, and their Commiſſions brought over by the next Meſſenger from thence.

Frederica in Georgia, Auguſt 30. 1736.

The Governour of Auguſtine having acquainted Mr. Oglethorpe, that Don Antonio de Arrodondo was arrived at Auguſtine, ſent up Commiſſioner from the Governour of Havanna, to make certain Demands and Propoſitions to him, he ſent out a Sloop to bring Don Antonio by Sea into this Place. There are three Companies of Foot from Havanna, arrived at Auguſtine, under the Command of Don Philip. Don Antonio appeared off this Bar laſt Wedneſday, in a Spaniſh Veſſel with Six Guns, in Company with the Sloop, and was permitted to come into Jekyl Sound, but not up to the Town. We hear that he ſolemnly demands, that the Engliſh ſhould evacuate all to the South of St. Helena's Sound, and in caſe he does not agree with Mr. Oglethorpe, he is to go to Charleſtown with that Meſſage. Mr. Oglethorpe and he have had ſeveral Conferences on board the Hawk Sloop. Don Antonio has been entertained in a very handſome Manner, and his whole Company have been provided with Refreſhments and Garden-Stuff, of which we have great Plenty, and they are much ſurprized thereat, conſidering how new the Settlement is. None of the Spaniards have been up at Town or any where elſe, except on Shore over againſt where the Sloop lies, Mr. Oglethorpe having there ſet up Tents and Beds for their Reception, and every Thing neceſſary is ſent down to them.

By further Advices of Letters dated the 2d Inſtant, at the Cherokees, from Joſeph Griffin, another Trader lawfully licenſed from the Government, we are informed, that he with a Cargo of about the ſame Value, hath undergone the ſame Fate, and loſt every Thing he had, by the ſaid Georgia People, who threatned to bind him and carry him Priſoner to Georgia, becauſe he would not conſent to ſell his Horſes or go with them.
